

NOVELTY OF THE PROJECT

ONLINE CRIME SCENE INVESTIGATION SYSTEM

The project chosen by our group works with the sole aim of betterment of the society.

A society is classified as a secure place and will attract more people and families only when they have safety for the residents residing in them or are a part of them directly (residents) and indirectly (workers).

People choose areas to live in with the sense of security and protection for their families. If an area is known to have a high rate of crimes, it automatically becomes undesirable to live over there. This arrives us to our next question as to what basically is meant by the term 'CRIME'. Crime in general is , an act committed by a living being that can cause great harms to the person physically or psychologically or it's being (committed on mostly for personal gains or personal vendetta against someone), which can also lead to loss of life. And people wish to live without the tensions of crime being committed upon them or their families hence we arrive at the next part and that being tackling the crime.

Ever since the early civilizations, people have been dependant on higher authorities for the execution of law and order. We can't change the human nature, so where there's good there is bound to be evil. All we can do is raise our voice against the evil doers and stand against them and make an attempt to eradicate it. This is done by reporting of crimes to the police so that the police can take rightful action on behalf of the people.

It's often noticed that the police are lacking prompt replies to the reporting. There are lapse from the police as well as the people side. The police station has a wide range of various cases that need to be looked after and these all cases can take up to months of time for their verification. At times people feel shy or are hesitant in reporting of the crime causing the society to fall more under the crime taking place and increasing the rate of attacks. People require anonymity and security. They also require prompt replies to the requests they make. Sometime corrupt police officials refuse to register a complaint against a person belonging to an influential family and hence give them a license to become bullies in the society.

Our projects main attribute is that we are able to maintain that anonymity among the users so that no information is leaked out to any other users and the information is visible only to the admin and staff. Our project bridges the gap between the police and the public. We are aimed to making the law enforcers more easily approachable and available to all the people. Our project acts as a medium of effective communication b/w police and the people towards fighting crime.

The project has not been earlier done and no website or system is in use as per our knowledge in India that tackles crimes in a way that we do. Our project also aims to cover the 1.23 billion people residing in india and connecting them towards a fight against crime. Our project/system utilises a prompt sms and email feature which helps the users to receive updates regarding their requests from time to time and track down the progress towards their reporting. This is something very new and a great feature that is utilised.

Project being an online platform at such detailed and high level is the first of a kind and aims to better and better as time proceeds.
